
I am an activist, a dreamer, an idealist

I come from three generations of single mothers.

I am proud of our tenacity and independence.

My people are strong, loving, and loyal.

I feel awesome when I'm deep in a MW forest w/ no sounds of other people.

I am a sister, daughter, friend

I am...

love, peace, joy.

I breathe in hope and let go of fear and doubt.

I am a birthright citizen
Indian American
woman
mother
partner
sister
daughter

My people come from Indian villages and cities where paper boats flow
down monsoon flooded lanes - poor,
rich, ambitious, complicated.

I walk a tightrope between multiple worlds whenever I go, and at home in myself.

I feel awesome when I am connected with others through sharing, listening, resonating.

I am resilient, transparent, ^{very} emotional
I come from a place ~~divided on class lines, a~~ ^{clearly where everyone knows which} ~~place where side of the tracks you're on, a~~
place stolen from Dakota people.
My people are Catholic, Irish, German farmers
and laborer

I'm proud of our resilience, intelligence, warm commitment to each others' well-being

I feel awesome when I'm ~~connected to~~ working toward a common goal ~~with others~~ ~~to ~~then~~ ⁱⁿ create space for ~~life~~, giving life~~
or cultivating flowers and plants

I am from Minnesota

I am common, powerful ^{at} ~~the~~ woman,
mother & wife, ^{worker,} determined to set things right wherever I am.

insistent

I am ^{insistent} learning, growing, and connecting.

My people ~~represent~~ ^{are} the conquerors and colonists.

I come from disconnection, isolation, and tension.

My new community accepts me for who I am,
despite our differences.

I am ~~pride~~ a proud Northsider.

I am nurturing, strong, queer, and a fighter

I am fearless and full
of wisdom beyond my years.
I am a lovable Child of God who tell it like it is. I am older than I look.

My people come from across the ocean and where the hospitality is at its best.

I am proud of my
accomplishments as a mother,
a sister, and a friend.

I feel awesome when I'm spending time
with family and friends

I am passionate, I'm a fighter, I am Angels

My health may fail, and my spirit may grow weak, but God remains the strength of my heart; He is mine forever.

~~Wow~~ I Am by Chelonne

I am ^a black woman
I am fucking brilliant and rebellious. Like my children.

I am a container full of emotions, rarely allowed to surface.

I am hardened, a living callous with a heart of stone, but it still beats.

I am a set a part.

I am from a ~~pharaoh~~ Wanda Dickerson, my grandmother whose strength remains after her body
has left us.

I am, strong and fragile.

I am from country Kansas
whose smell I love.

I am from the Twin Cities.

I am gifted but feel cursed.

I am here. I am struggling. I am persevering.

I come from ^{my strong and resilient family} ~~Mazatlan~~ Mexico.

my people are hard working

I am proud of my ⁷ ~~two~~ kids

I feel awesome when we all are kind and inclusive with one another.

I am from Mazatlan Mexico & Rochester

I am Latina

- ~~✱~~ - I am grieving the loss of a baby.
- I come from gravel roads, snow-covered corn fields + the bright star lit skies of Iowa.
- My people are brutally honest, salt of the earth German Catholic English + Irish.
- I am proud of my family's resourcefulness + capacity to love, despite addictions, convictions + flaws.
- I feel ~~powerful~~ awesome when I finish a painting + give it to someone.
- I am from sunsets, June bugs + crickets - where the mice keep me up at night.
- I am ~~not~~ a mechanical, Disney-watching, ~~gossiping~~ volleyball-playing feminist + co-conspirator.

On most days I can't find a moment of

~~I am not working but sometimes I do
But on other, I am ~~not~~ present~~

I am feeling a bubble I'm increasingly aware of

I am killing ozone kills and confounders of muddy rivers
